PREME COURT JUDGE.

ATOR WHITE OF LOUISIANA GETS THE PLACE.

Irrmed by the Senate Without inference to the Judiciary Committee or Objection.

TO B. HILL SPEAKS BRIEFLY ON THE NOMINATION.

pointed That a New York Man Was Not appointed, But Approved the Wisdom of the President's Choice.

Shington, February 18.—Senator White of Louisiana has been nominated for justice of the supreme court. Senator White is nominated to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Justice Samuel F. Blatchford, of New York, president nominator Mr. White after being refused to confirm Horatio Pickham's selection of a justice from Louisiana is a great surprise, though it was not immediately after Pickham's nomination had been rejected that the president went so far from New York and comments were to the effect that it did not doubt taken the associate justice of New York politics.

Mr. White was not at the capital and no doubt aware of the honor about a fortnight upon him, although it is a surprise to every other man in the U. S. It is the usual custom in the Senate when a senator is nominated, to consult without waiting to refer the nomination to a committee. This action is taken except when an sitting or senator is named. A single objection without reference would be the nomination over.

1:30 o'clock the senate went into executive session on motion of Mr. Caffery, Louisiana, with a view to the confirmation of Senator White at once. The motion to confirm his nomination as justice was made by Mr. Pugh, Alabama, who made a speech eulogizing the nominee and was followed by Mr. Teller, Illinois and Caffery, all except other members of the judiciary committee.

Mr. Hill said that while he regretted the president had in his wisdom seen outside of New York for a man to office, he was pleased that it had been made so wisely. The motion of necessity was removed from confirmation of Mr. White and the matter known officially.

new justice, it is supposed, will be his commission and be ready to his seat on the bench when the senate court session on the first Monday after its February recess.

ward Douglas White was born in 1826, in Louisiana, in November, was educated at Mount St. Mary's, Emmitsburg, Md., at the Jesuit college, New Orleans, and at Georgetown, D. C. He was admitted to the bar in 1850, practiced law in Louisiana, served in the Confederate army; served his term in the Louisiana senate in 1868, 1870, 1872, 1874, 1876, 1878, 1880, 1882, 1884, 1886, 1888, 1890, 1892, 1894.

Shington, February 18.—All of the delegation, in common with all of the Louisiana delegation, contingent, are delighted today at the nomination of Senator White of Louisiana for justice of the supreme court. They thought that this will be of great as a political union on the part of Louisiana and will do much to mend the feeling between him and the South. President is a good politician and will undoubtedly appreciate the done here. Texas are particularly interested in the supreme court, just now, are cause to be glad over the action of another Southern man.

the railroad commission case and county case are pending and will be tried during this term. The commission case has only been postponed until bench and will be heard almost immediately upon the opening of the court in spring term on the 1st of next month. In the case of the state sovereignty there is too much Southern sentiment in Texas side.

George Clark Mentioned. In Texas, February 18.—Several telegrams were sent to Washington yesterday and this morning urging Hon. Clark as excellent timber for justice of the supreme court of the United States. The nomination of Senator White of Louisiana, however, sets the contest and Texas will not be able to get him.

JOHN WESLEY HARDIN.

THE NOTORIOUS DESPERADO IS AGAIN AT LIBERTY.

His Twenty-Five Year Sentence Expires with the Commutation for Good Behavior—Will Rejoin His Family and Practice Law.

Huntsville, Texas, February 17.—John Wesley Hardin was released from custody at the penitentiary today, having served a term of twenty-five years. He was sent from Comanche county June 4, 1879, and served fifteen years, eight months and twelve days, his time being reduced to that extent for good behavior.

He says his desire now is to be free with all the world, as he has tasted the bitterness of the drops of transgression. Hardin left today to join his children, three in number, who await his coming.

No convict has left the walls of the Huntsville penitentiary with a greater notoriety than John Wesley Hardin. In the early days of Texas his name was a synonym of terror, and the number of men he has killed during his lifetime has been stated as anywhere from five to fifty. When first confined in the great penal institution of Texas, John Wesley proved one of the most refractory convicts the management had ever been called upon to deal with. There was no work that suited his aesthetic tastes, and he steadily refused to descend to menial labor. He was placed in the rack, tied by his thumbs, put in the dark cell, severely flogged, and in fact nearly every punishment used by the penitentiary was tried upon him, but to no avail. He was as stubborn as the proverbial mule. Having been always used to having his own will, and being known as "the boss of the Texas plains," it didn't suit him at all to come down to the level of a common criminal, working at common labor.

He was finally induced to take some light work on his last shoulder, however, being given a position in the tailor shop. It would work for months at a time without a murmur, and then some fine day the notorious Wesley would conclude that there wasn't any fun in working for the State, and he would immediately become stubborn again. The severe punishment he received on these occasions, though, finally had their effect upon him, and during the last ten years he has been very easily managed.

Hardin's parents are said to have been of a very religious nature, and it has been reported that he was intended for a preacher. Being named for the famous evangelist, John Wesley, gave credence to this report, though none of Hardin's former associates have ever strengthened such a belief. When his temper is unruffled, though, the notorious ex-convict is said to be one of the tenderest and most kind-hearted men known anywhere. His devotion to his wife and children is also mentioned as one of his redeeming traits.

There were several indictments before different courts in Texas against Hardin, and as soon as he served out a term for one offense he was brought up for another. He has succeeded in quashing all but one or two, however. During the last few years he has occupied all his spare time in the study of law, and proposes to defend himself in the next case brought against him. He also announces it as his intention to devote the rest of his life to that profession, and having been a diligent student for some time past, he will no doubt make a success in that field. He can certainly speak from experience as to breaking the law's statutes in many instances.

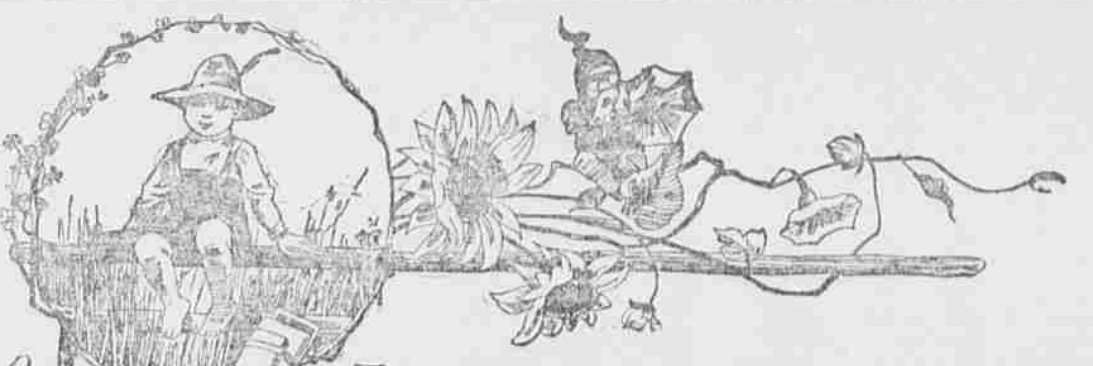

Founders of the A. P. A.
Milwaukee, Wis., February 17.—Henry P. Powers of Clinton, Iowa, the founder of the A. P. A., is in the city. Mr. Powers is between 60 and 70 years old and wears long hair and a goatee. "Some people labor under misapprehension in regard to our association," he said. "We are not an annex to the republican party, but wish to prevent improper men being elected to office. If the democrats nominate good men there is nothing to hinder our voting for them. We fight the idea of any union of church and State and are especially solicitous to maintain public schools. We have no fight with the rank and file of the Catholic church, but do oppose those of its leaders who seek to keep people in the dark. We are the only one whose allegiance to some foreign religious potentate or organization than to the United States, of which they are citizens. I know that the workings of the Catholic church are controlled by about six men, with headquarters in Vienna, and the emperor of Austria is at the head of them. We are opposed to all interference in secular affairs by any church, whether, and especially to a church which will incite men to riot because an American citizen exercises his right of free speech in a public hall or place."

"The A. P. A. was organized at Clinton, March 13, 1887. It was on Sunday afternoon and I had the honor of being one of the organizers. I am intensely interested in the organization, as I was deprived of the privilege of working at the Catholic church and State and are especially solicitous to maintain public schools. We have no fight with the rank and file of the Catholic church, but do oppose those of its leaders who seek to keep people in the dark. We are the only one whose allegiance to some foreign religious potentate or organization than to the United States, of which they are citizens. I know that the workings of the Catholic church are controlled by about six men, with headquarters in Vienna, and the emperor of Austria is at the head of them. We are opposed to all interference in secular affairs by any church, whether, and especially to a church which will incite men to riot because an American citizen exercises his right of free speech in a public hall or place."

"How many members have you now?" was asked.
"That is a question I can not answer. We do not propose to reveal our numbers to an opponent as alert as the one we have to contend with."

To Settle the Purvis Case.
Jackson, Miss., February 17.—Attorney General Johnston in the name of the State has made a motion in the supreme court in the case of W. H. Purvis to have the question settled in order to have a new sentence, either by the supreme court or circuit court, as the supreme court may see fit to determine.

The motion will be presented to the supreme court next Monday. Section 437 of the code provides the sentence of the supreme court in all criminal cases brought before it shall be executed in like manner as decided by the court in which the prosecution originated, while section 161 provides that the mode and manner in which the circuit court may pronounce a con-

Gentlemen—You will please send us a new ribbon, same as the one originally sent, for our Smith Premier Typewriter, and we would also take this occasion to say that we are, after sixteen months' constant use, convinced beyond doubt that we have the best machine on the market, especially in comparison with those which we have given a fair trial—Remington, Caligraph, Yost and Hammond. The ribbon we are now using is the only one we have had since the purchase of the machine and have never even felt the machine as per directions, but notwithstanding this neglect on our part it works admirably, just as well if not better than when we got it. Very truly yours,
